WORD OF LIFE

Annual Report 2025

Serving with believers from Muslim background worldwide

Introduction

We are delighted to share with you our report on 2025, a year of huge growth for the Word of Life family. We continue to see the Lord's hand on our tracks of ministry, which have all increased in team size, and in the number and reach of our resources.

This year we developed our leadership team, with brother Soroush and sister Jenni joining David in the role of Associate Directors, with Tim continuing as Director. We trust that under the Lord's hand, their leadership will bless Word of Life and, through it, the wider church.

One of our key values is relational partnership. Our lead partnerships are deep, long-lasting and based on shared vision and collaborative working. We also have some shorter-term working partnerships, which enable us and others to deliver specific projects such as new translations or using technology tools.

Discipleship resources that continue to grow

Across our work, we continue to walk alongside believers from Muslim background, offering discipleship resources to help them grow in faith. Through initiatives such as GROWSPACE, believers in restricted countries are gaining access to lessons, learning God's word, and growing stronger in their walk with Christ. What began as a simple online resource has become a lifeline for many who are hungry for the truth and eager to share it with others.

In Southeast Asia, Come Follow Me in Bahasa Indonesia was completed and launched, and quickly followed by a Bahasa Malaysia translation with new artwork from the region. Regional leadership has helped catalyse partnerships and move projects on, with courses being used both in person and online across multiple countries.

Research, learning and new resources

Our Hikma and Courses tracks have been collaborating on research and learning to produce outputs under both tracks. In 2024 we hosted a research panel, where a group of BMB contributors from around the world explored the topic of marriage. Since then a writers' team has been working on a BMB marriage course, and a Hikma editorial team has been helping the panellists turn their contribution into a book chapter. Both of these have been major focuses throughout 2025.

"This book was born from years of listening… it brings together the voices of scholars, missionaries, and BMB leaders. Their stories are real, their insights are hard-earned, and their message is clear: marriage matters deeply for the future of the BMB movement."

Learning what belonging looks like

We are continuing to learn what it means for churches to become family.

“I wasn’t just looking for a place to worship—I was seeking a space where I could grow spiritually and feel genuinely at home… we were searching for a church that felt like a family—a community where we could belong, build meaningful relationships, and walk alongside others in faith.”

Please pray for the team as they continue to process the research and consider how it affects future resource development.
